

4 DEATHS DUE TO FIRES AND LOSS ON PROPERTY $108,775

Bucks County Firemen Hear The Report of Raymond Strunk, Quakertown

MEET AT CHALFONT

Discuss Causes of Big Fires In County During Past Three Months

CHALFONT, Dec. 16 — Four deaths, and property loss of $108,775 were listed in the report of Bucks County fire marshal, Raymond Strunk, of Quakertown, when he presented his report for the past three months at the quarterly meeting of Bucks County Firemen's Association, here, Saturday evening.

Members from all parts of Bucks County, who assembled in the local school house, heard some of the outstanding fires discussed, mainly the small dwelling on the Starkey Farms near Morrisville, where three little boys met their deaths; a conflagration at Trevoise which made four families homeless; the Gottshall barn fire at Quakertown; and the Quakertown School Farm barn fire.

The firemen were informed that the four deaths by fire during the past three months included Pierce Leer, 71, of Springfield; and William, six months, Raymond, three years, and Mark, Jr., two years, three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Daniels, Starkey Farms.

The fire marshal's report also contained the following information: number of alarms, 72; fire loss, $108,775; amount of insurance, $166,200; property at risk, $851,700; house fires, 21; barn fires, 7; out-buildings, 8; oil and gasoline trucks and automobiles, 7; factory, 1; park building, 1; apartment building, 1.

Herman Heavener lead the discussion regarding the Starkey Farms fire; and Leonard Roberts (who told of the Trevoise fire where four dwellings were leveled, informed that the families had been aided by collection of $3,400.

William L. Stackhouse, of Doylestown, was the presiding officer at Saturday's session. Fire Marshal Strunk briefly reviewed tentative plans for the June, 1947, parade in Quakertown, reminding that companies will be placed in line in accordance with numerical order in which acceptance is received. Coming sessions announced are: March, Morrisville; June, annual meeting and parade, Quakertown; September, Feasterville; December, Erwin.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The General Assembly of the United Nations drove toward its close last night but quick adjournment was delayed by some vigorous differences of opinion on some of the few remaining items on the agenda.

Earlier in the day the Assembly had voted to allow the World Federation of Trade Unions to submit items for the agenda of the Economic and Social Council.

It became apparent in Belgrade that Yugoslavia intended to press territorial claims against Austria when peace terms for the latter were drawn.

The restoration of the Government's authority in Iran was extended to the recently rebellious "Kurdish Republic" with the surrender of the Kurd leader, Ghazi Mohammed.

In Cairo the American-built Payne Field was formally turned over to the Egyptian Government.

There seemed to be no doubt in London that Princess Elizabeth of Britain would marry Prince Philip of Greece at some time in the future, but announcement of the betrothal was presumably withheld because of political complications in the present situation of Greece.

APPLES LOSE GROUND TO OTHER FRUITS

Growers Informed They Must Do More Marketing, Develop By-Products

A. L. HACKER SPEAKS

Declaring that apples are losing ground to other fruits in the human diet, Agricultural Agent A. L. Hacker, of Lehigh County, speaking at a dinner-meeting of the Bucks County Fruit Growers' Association, at Doylestown, Wednesday evening, said: "Apple growers can no longer depend on a slogan, but must do more marketing and developing by-products such as apple-jelly, apple butter and apple-flavoring."

Speaking to about 35 Bucks fruit growers and orchardists, County Agent Hacker told them that large apple growers are now selling apples peeled and sliced to restaurants and bakeries ready for use.

Touching on observations in his own county, where he has been the county agent for more than a quarter of a century, Mr. Hacker said that he felt that a good cover product for orchards is using domestic rye grass, which is seeded in late June, and disced under in the Spring. In sod orchards he suggested the use of ladino clover.

In the Lehigh area there is an increase of the planting of fruit trees, mostly peaches. Certain new varieties show promise.

"There are practically no new varieties of apples which can show up the standard varieties—Stayman Winesap, Red Delicious, Rome or Jonathan—as good apple growers know," Mr. Hacker commented.

Speaking on mouse infestation the Lehigh county expert said that it is exceptionally heavy this year. "The best control is poisoned grain laced with treatment with strychnine."

Turning to spraying and problems of spraying, the speaker pointed out that good help is a limiting factor in good spraying.

Orchard men are resorting to heavier pruning to facilitate better covering of fruit with spray materials.

Elbert W. Haldeman, of Doylestown, served as the presiding officer and H. Lloyd Ott, Bedminster township, is the secretary.

H. R. Jolly Now On The "Parks" In Marianas

Parks," flagship of Destroyer Squadron One, The "Parks" has returned from a cruise to the Far East, and is serving with the Fast Carrier Task Forces of the 7th Fleet in the Marianas Islands area.

Jolly entered the Navy in February, 1946, and received his recruit training at Camp Peary, Va.

LEADERS OR BOSSES

Among the differences between the Democratic party and the Republican, looking back through the years, is that in the main the Republicans have chosen leaders whereas the Democrats have wound up most often with bosses.

A leader is a man who, by force of personality, tact and ability, is able to surround himself with skilled and practical supporters whose collective judgment helps direct his course. He leads—he doesn't drive.

A boss, of course, is one who tries to make all big decisions—and most little ones—himself.

History abounds in examples of the two types. Consider Napoleon and Hitler. In many ways their careers are similar. Both rose from obscurity, each revitalized a forlorn and crushed race, both used military power to conquer Europe.

But there the resemblance ends. Among all the characteristics of Napoleon which enabled him to win his astounding successes, none is more remarkable than his genius in picking the best men for the right jobs, and then working together with them so that the maximum results were obtained.

Napoleon himself credited the bulk of his military successes to his marshals—most of them of humble origin; and it certainly is true that, as his earlier marshals died or quit him, and he had to rely more and more on his own initiative, his star began declining.

For all of the vanity and self-satisfaction, Napoleon quite lacked the arrogance of opinion which was the undoing of Hitler. The German leader, throughout his career, showed a jealousy of his associates which seemed to increase in ratio as they became closer and more important to him. He demanded as his due the right to decide every question, regardless of how little he really knew about it—from the uniforms of his soldiers to the most critical military campaigns.

The first "boss" who occupied the American White House was a Democrat, whose short temper, jealousy and bad judgment put the Democratic party's feet on a path of error which it has never fully succeeded in leaving.

He was Andrew Jackson. Jackson fought to dominate Congress and the Supreme Court, which was bad enough; but, worse, he insisted on personally deciding all his party's strategy and program, from committing the Democrats forever to the spoils system, to the delicate matter of national banking—where he produced a panic and depression that, unfortunately, came in his successor's term.

BANS COMBUSTIBLES FROM TRASH COLLECTION

Instructions Are Given To Morrisville Collectors Not To Collect Them

DETAILS ARE GIVEN

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 16 —Instructions are to be given that no combustible materials are to be gathered when tin can and ash collections take place here. Borough council is instructing the collectors to leave all combustible materials at the curbs.

Complaints had been received from residents of North Delmor avenue in the vicinity of the creek bed where ashes are dumped. A system is being worked out to notify violators. Councilman Edward R. Roberts' Sanitation Committee was given power to act.

It was reported many residents place combustible materials with ashes and cans. These are carted to the dump causing a fire nuisance.

At the request of Harold Kendall, president of the board of health, Council gave the board of health permission to open any street where there is a violation of any borough health ordinance. But notice must be given to Borough Engineer Harry H. Lee two days in advance.

Joseph A. Keating, representing the Morrisville Broadcasting Company, announced that the company is purchasing land in the fourth ward. However, underground encroachments near borough land make it necessary for the company to ask the borough's co-operation on the encroachment. Lee was authorized to investigate and the borough agreed to tentatively co-operate if plans do not conflict with the borough's proposed disposal plant and incinerator.

It was reported that the fourth installment of state motor license funds, amounting to $1,467.26, was received.

Approval was given to the Richmond Bus Lines taxicab service here. The bus company proposes to use two cabs in a 24-hour service.

C. Church yesterday at 1:30, there to become the bride of Mr. Joseph J. Lacava, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Lacava, Philadelphia. The bride, daughter of Mrs. Thomas DiLorenzo, Cedar street, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Pasquale DiLorenzo, Washington street.

The bridal gown of brocaded satin was fashioned with a train. With this was worn a long tulle veil attached to a head-piece composed of orange blossoms. The bride wore white satin slippers.

SCHMIDT NAMES ASS'T FUND DRIVE CHAIRMAN

Horace P. Schmidt, 1947 fund chairman for the American Red Cross, has appointed Sheridan B. Metz, Edgely, as assistant chairman. The committee chairmen are being organized, and announcement of the appointment of captains will be made in the near future.

Mr. Schmidt, associated with his father, J. S. Schmidt, is well known in Bristol for his many civic interests. He is past exalted ruler of Bristol Lodge of Elks, and past president of Bristol Exchange Club. He is the present chairman of the house committee at the Elks home, and is a member of the vestry of St. James' Episcopal Church.

Mr. Schmidt's interest in Red Cross grew out of his contacts with that organization while he was in the service both in this country and overseas in Ireland, England, Scotland, France, Holland and Germany.

He was very favorably impressed by the service clubs in England which were "practically the only satisfactory places in which to eat." He states he also gained a great respect for the clubmoldies which ran to within a few miles of the front within firing range, and dispensed coffee, doughnuts, music, and a feeling of good fellowship to the men.

Mr. Schmidt says that Bristol has always generously supported Red Cross in the past and he feels sure that the people of Bristol will back this year's drive. "They know that their support will enable Red Cross to carry on its work, so important in peace as well as in war."

LEGION TO MEET

The State Police Say . . .

"Holiday Spirit" means good will and joy. But make that "holiday spirits" and it can mean violent injury and tragedy. Statistics show that a driver under the influence of liquor is 55 times as likely to have an accident as one who is sober. Don't let spirits ruin the spirit of Christmas.

South Langhorne Sewer Plans Being Revised

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Dec. 16 —Work of revising plans for the proposed sewage system for South Langhorne borough is underway, following rejection by the State of a part of the plans submitted.

More specific details were asked in some phases of the work, and revision is in care of the Philadelphia engineering firm in charge of the plans.

The sewage project grows out of the State Legislature's Pure Stream Act of 1945 in which several boroughs throughout the state were instructed to install sewage systems where previously they had utilized streams emptying into state waters for their drainage.

South Langhorne borough retained an engineering firm to submit plans and these in turn were submitted to the state. Minor corrections need be made before approval by the State. The project without the co-operation of any other boroughs would call for an expenditure of over $250,000. This would include a disposal plant costing some $150,000 which could be pro-rated should wider participation in the project be secured.

REUTHER ADDRESSES ABOUT 500 HERE

Pres't of UAW, CIO, Advocates Higher Wages but No Price Increase

O-K'S NATHAN REPORT

Building up public purchasing power by further large wage increases to labor unions as the only way to prevent a new depression was urged last night by Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, CIO, at an open meeting held by Fleetwings Local 130 in St. Mark's Hall.

He repeated the demand he has made on several occasions during his present swing around the country, that auto workers' wages be raised 23.5 cents an hour with no increase in automobile prices. He referred to the much-disputed Nathan report as indicating that motor-producing companies can absorb the increase.

"This is the most decisive period in civilized mankind," Mr. Reuther said. "We won the war, but we still have to win the peace. Labor unions are part of the machinery for making democracy work. We have before us the great job of taking the four freedoms, and implementing them."

"How are we doing with that job? Not so well. Economists are unanimous in telling us we are hell-bent for another depression. And a depression is not just an economic phenomenon. If it comes, millions of people will walk the streets, hungry and idle."

He referred to the serious slump in the stock market during the past several months as having cost the country $20 billion, and charged that $37 billion more has been piled up in warehouse inventories as a "weapon to destroy price control."

As to wages, he said that in the automotive industry there has been a drop of $3.50 average take-home pay within the year, and said that when this decrease was counted in with the lessened value of wages due to rising prices, purchasing to a point where 23.5 cents an hour wage increase is needed to restore it.

"There is a theory," he said, "that labor got huge wages during the war."

First Food Locker Here Plans To Open Soon

The first frozen food locker plant to be erected in the Bristol area will open its doors to the public in the near future, according to an announcement made today by three young men, veterans of World War II.

The locker plant, now nearing completion, is located on Bath Road, between Magnolia and Silver Lake, of cinder block construction, the one-story building has a white stucco finish.

The proprietors are Wilson M. Hibbs, George H. Erny, and Joseph S. McLean, Jr., all of Bristol Township, and all veterans of World War II.

The trio announces that reservations are being accepted for individual metal lockers of the door-type and drawer-type. They also will have agencies for high quality commercial brands of frozen foods, locker supplies and home freezers.

HOSPITAL ASSURED THIS AREA BY PROPOSED SALE

Foundation Set Up by Talbot Family Will Operate The Institution

DETAILS ARE GIVEN

New Owners To Take Possession As Soon As Title is Transferred

With the signing of an agreement of sale for the Harriman Hospital to the Mabelle Esther Foundation, announcement of which was made in a portion of Saturday's issue of the Courier, Bristol is assured of a hospital to cater to the needs of residents of this area.

According to rumors that have been current for the past several months, the hospital has been sought by various groups for different purposes, but with the sale to the Mabelle Esther Foundation, organized by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talbot and their son, George Talbot, of Bristol, the building will continue to be used as a hospital.

The name given the Foundation is derived from the first and middle names of Mrs. Talbot. The building, grounds and all furniture, fixtures, equipment and paraphernalia, is to be purchased from Dr. George T. Fox, owner and operator, with the full understanding that they are to be used for hospital purposes, and to continue to be operated as such indefinitely, states Mr. Talbot.

Dr. Fox, according to the agreement, is to remain as head physician for a minimum period of five years.

In announcing details of the purchase of the hospital located at the intersection of Pond street and Wilson avenue, Mr. Talbot said: "My wife and son and I felt that Bristol should be protected against losing a hospital. There is ample room for expansion on the premises, and we have in mind several improvements when such can conveniently be carried out."

The one-story brick building has a capacity of 52 beds and 15 bassinets.

Control by the Foundation will take place as soon as the title is granted. The Foundation will operate the hospital as a non-profit institution.

Officers of the Foundation are President, Roman C. Hassrick, Esq., Philadelphia; treasurer, Clarence E. Tobias, Jr., Bala-Cynwyd; secretary, Mrs. Irene M. Barneue, Wynwood. A board of trustees is yet to be named, said board to be composed mainly of Bristol residents. The board will approximate six in membership.

The hospital building was erected by the U. S. government during World War I. When hostilities ceased the Bristol Doctors' Association operated the hospital for 10 months. Then Dr. Fox purchased the building and grounds from the government. Later he acquired additional ground, and enlarged the hospital. Dr. Fox has operated the hospital since July 15, 1922.

Patrick Howard Hurt In Hit-Run Accident

MULTIPLE VICE PRESIDENTS

Who should succeed to the Presidency when the country is without a Vice President? That is one of the problems left unsolved by the expiring 79th Congress. The present law provides that the successor shall be the Secretary of State, and then the Secretary of the Treasury, and so on down through most of the cabinet. But President Truman recommended, in one of his first messages to Congress, that the Speaker of the House be placed first in the line of succession.

That proved quite unacceptable
to the Senate. The Senate wanted its President pro tempore first on the list. Under the Truman plan
he would have come second.

Now comes an Oklahoma
member of the House, Monroney,
with a suggestion that the country elect two Vice Presidents, so that it would have a spare whenever one of them was elevated to the Presidency. But the suggestion is not original. Rep. John Kunkel, Pennsylvania, at the 1945 session
of Congress offered a constitutional amendment for the election of three Vice Presidents.

The first and third of Kunkel's
Vice Presidents would "perform duties in the executive branch assigned to them by the President." The second would be presiding officer of the Senate. In case of a vacancy in the office of chief executive, the Vice Presidents would succeed in order of their rank.

Needless to say, this plan did not receive serious consideration.
Of all plans so far advanced, President Truman's suggestion that the Speaker of the House be next in line makes the most sense.

MORE MEAT COMING

Meat prices are still too high
to convince the average consumer that the problem of keeping this particular food item on the family
table has been solved satisfactorily. A review of the meat situation by the Department of Agriculture, though, indicates that a continued improvement can be looked for as the law of supply and demand gradually takes over
after the years of controls.

The government says that the cattle population stands at a near-record figure now and that, as a result, beef and veal production next year will come close to the all-time high level of 84 pounds per capita reached in 1945. As much of the output in that year went overseas to the armed forces and to Russia as lend-lease, civilians could buy only approximately 70 pounds per person. So it is obvious that there will be more meat in 1947 than in 1945.

Better yet for the consumer,
prices will turn down "moderately" when meat production reaches its seasonal peak early this winter. Both beef and pork will be cheaper, even though pork will be somewhat scarcer next year and lamb and mutton will also be short. Pork may rise again toward the end of winter, as marketing slumps, but beef prices should remain stable once the price breaks.

rapidity that it was impossible to save the stock of goods contained therein. The post office was in the store and all the mail matter and other property completely lost. In the cellar was stored some 1500
gallons of wine, the product of Mr.
Vandegrift's vineyard for years. It is also supposed to be lost. The house adjoining the store also took fire, the roof was burned, and the upper floors considerably damaged.
The loss will foot up from $7,000
to $8,000.

Edward C. Bruden, executor of the estate of the late James M.
Bruden, has sold the old homestead
at the corner of Pond and Dorrance streets, Bristol, to Isaac Hillborn, of Washington street, for $3300. Mr.
Hillborn contemplates the erection of a bakery on the property and will utilize the lawn for an ice cream
garden during the summer months.

The Green Lane public school has had its name changed. It is now designated as the Bloomsdale public school. Joseph Bannister is chiseling a date stone with the new name.

The engineers are making the final survey of the route for the Bristol and Newtown Trolley line,
and will finish their work this week.
It is expected that the work of laying the rails and stretching the wires will begin by the first of October, and that the road between Bristol and Langhorne will be finished and the cars running by the first of December. . . .

Cleveland, again, showed much the same disposition;
though with less of Jackson's bad temper and manners. Cleveland, for example, stamped indelibly his own theories of free trade on the Democratic party at a time when tariff protection was rising to favor in his party's ranks.

The "bossism" of more recent Democrats like Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt is too well known to need comment.

The first and greatest Republican President, Abraham Lincoln, was a leader rather than a boss. He led; certainly there is no question about that; the position which he took earlier (in the Lincoln-Douglas debates) on the question of slavery came to dominate the Northern attitude on slavery in the course of the Civil War.

But he worked through his cabinet, the leaders of his party in Congress, the other party leaders of the day, the military chieftains; almost never did he fall back on orders when arguments and persuasion failed. Again and again, he deferred to the majority opinions of his associates, rather than flatly overrule them; and permitted errors to prove their fallacy so that there could be true agreement on the right policy.

The spirit of the Republican Party being a team, rather than merely a multitude following a "boss," has nearly always dominated Republican administrations. As has been true with both political parties, not all of the Republican nominees have been ideal executives.

But because of the Republican concept of teamwork, the nation has been spared the misfortunes it might have suffered under men who turned out unexpectedly (for all their ability in some fields) to lack the knack of keeping their "friends" under control.

Hangers on to the regimes of men like Grant and Harding produced major scandals. Under some circumstances, these might have demoralized the nation and thrown it into a tailspin.
Why didn't this happen? Why is it that during both periods,
the whole nation prospered and expanded?

Simply because both of these men followed the Republican tradition and permitted able and enlightened public leaders to help chart the course of basic public policy. Teamwork is the best insurance against disaster resulting from the stumbling of an individual.

The point may be shown in the reverse. Of all the Republican presidents, the one who came nearest to being a "one-man" executive was Herbert Hoover, who, as everyone knows, suffered more misfortune to his own career and to the destiny
of his party, than any of his predecessors.

The principle of teamwork vs. bossism has many applications, in the local field as well as State and Nationally.

It is the turning point, in large measure, of the Truman Administration. Part if not all of the wave of popular support which President Truman enjoyed in his first month in office rose from the fact that the American people read into his early remarks what they took to be a promise to function as leader of a team—a pledge not to attempt to solve all the problems on his own.

If this was his original intention, he quickly forgot it. The one-man, snap-judgment decisions of the Truman Administration exceed anything of the sort ever seen before—even those of the terms of the late President Roosevelt. They hold the clue to the smashing defeat he and his party suffered last November.

Somewhere or other in literature is a remark to the effect that the surest mark of absolute genius is the ability to take good advice.

na; June, 1948, annual meeting and parade, Bristol.

Members of 29 companies were welcomed on Saturday by Chief Graham of Chalfont; and by Edwin Fly, a member of the company. They heard Mr. Heist, of Quakertown, lead a discussion on laws regarding construction of new homes from a fire protection standpoint. Mr. Heist is president of the fire police association of Bucks Co.

Mr. Row, a former Philadelphia fire chief, spoke on "Duties and Loyalty of Volunteer Firemen"; and William Zimmerman, Lansdale, spoke in regard to the same subject.

A committee composed of trustees, the secretary and treasurer, was named to arrange for safe-keeping of all important documents and papers of the association.

Chief Graham of Chalfont Company reported on recent sessions of the state firemen's association convention. Two letters from Trevo residents, regarding aid given at the time of the conflagration there, were read. Robert D. Landis, Quakertown, financial secretary, reported 494 members and 52 companies affiliated with the association.

The invocation of the evening was by the pastor of Chalfont Lutheran Church. A 20 minute program of vocal numbers was presented by Miss Ethel Graham and her brother, with Miss Mildred Brunner as accompanist.

After enjoying the musical part of the program, members of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the county retired to the fire station for their meeting and Christmas party. Later a sou' wester supper was served the women and men by Chalfont Auxiliary.

LIST PRIZES

Among the prizes to be offered high scorers at the pinochle party in Bracken Post home tonight at 8.30 are: Basket of potatoes, chicken fryer, nylon hosiery, artificial Christmas tree, tea kettle, etc. The ways and means committee of the American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring the affair. A turkey will be the door prize.

TO RAISE SPECIAL FUND

TULLYTOWN, Dec. 16—A special meeting of Tullytown Fire Co. is called for tomorrow evening in the fire station at seven o'clock. The session is in regard to raising a special fund of money for the company.

war, and that now it can live partly on its war savings. The Department of Commerce has reported that half the people of the country saved and now have 97 per cent of the total savings, while the other half, to which labor belongs, has only three per cent of the savings.

"That isn't much of a cushion. When you spread it over half the families of the United States, it amounts to about one feather per family."

"They tell us that when you raise wages, you must raise prices. But the whole history of the country says no."

"You can't solve economic problems by name-calling, but that is what some people are doing on this issue. We wish some of our critics, instead of calling us names, would say to us: 'We think the CIO report is unsound, and we will sit down and show you why.'"

He then quoted from parts of the Nathan report concerning current and expected earnings of the automotive company various figures which the companies themselves have denied, and continued with the statement that the wage increase alone would not be helpful if it was accompanied by higher prices.

"To raise wages and then raise prices is putting the worker on a merry-go-round," he said. "We are not trying to get something at the expense of the rest of the country."

"Volume is the key to the problem—the key to mass production. We've got to work the matter out in a constructive way—got to find the balance between wages, prices, and profits; or else America is in trouble."

"The answer is not to destroy labor, or the social gains made under President Roosevelt, but for labor and management to recognize their responsibilities—to sit down and find the answer."

"If they fail, there will arise a superstate to do the job for us. You can't destroy labor's rights without destroying all rights. There can't be free management without free labor."

Several times during his talk,

Mr. Reuther referred to the need for price controls. He said the OPA program was broken because "the meat trust carried on the biggest left-down strike in history," and said the Federal Housing program was wrecked because of "powerful vested interests" which "pushed Whyatt out."

"The peace can be won," he continued, "only if we fight for it in the same 'total' fashion that we fought to win the war. It is a great challenge and a great opportunity."

"YOU HAVE MORE TOYS---

MORE TOYS and DISPLAYS

THAN ANY DEPARTMENT STORE IN PHILADELPHIA OR TRENTON"

These words have been echoed by at least a thousand people who have shopped at

SANTA'S TOYLAND!!!

--- and I want to take this opportunity to thank the thousands who have patronized SANTA'S TOYLAND --- the thousands who made Santa's Toyland the outstanding toy store success of Mill Street and Bucks County. Santa is still here --- he wants to meet all his little friends who haven't been in. He'll be here 'til Christmas Eve. And Santa and Santa's Toyland will be back along about November of next year.

Gratefully,
